The new 50-franc note

A guide for the visually impaired

Tactile elements, colours and dimensions

On the front of the note, along the long edges, are a series of short, raised lines. The number of lines varies for each denomination. The 50-franc note has three sets of lines on both sides. The new notes can still be easily identified by their colour; the dimensions will also help you to tell them apart.

Value numeral and name of the bank

The value numerals are printed on the note in large, slightly raised font, which can be felt if you run over it with your fingers. On the front, the value numeral is at the bottom left of the note; on the back, it is at the top left.

On the front of the note, below the value numeral, you can feel the bank's name SCHWEIZERISCHE NATIONALBANK and BANCA NAZIUNALA SVIZRA in raised print, while BANQUE NATIONALE SUISSE and BANCA NAZIONALE SVIZZERA are on the back of the note.
